ALL IS NOW QUIET.

Encouraging Reports Come From the Flat Top Coal Region

Charleston, W. Va., May 10.—Reassuring reports from the Elkhorn district were received this morning at the capitol, and notwithstanding the little flurry created yesterday afternoon by the news of the firing on the Virginia miners by West Virginia strikers, the situation is unchanged to-day. Among the first dispatches received to-day was one from Deputy Sheriff Hubbard dated Welch, McDowell county, It states:

"In the absence of Sheriff Effler, who is at Moundsville, will say that there is no foundation for the rumor that Bullet's men have been fired upon in McDowell county. Everything is perfectly quiet in this county this morning.

This is authentic and can be relied upon.

It is known that on Wednesday evening several attempts were made to run the picket line t Pocahontas and in one instance the strikers did do a little harmless shooting. The whole section about the Improvement company's property is most effectually guarded by the militia and no great amount of damage can possibly be accomplished otherwise than by a combined attack of the strikers on the militia, which under the conditions prevalent is not anticipated nor in any way likely to happen.

Adjutant General Holly to-day reported to Governor MacCorkle from Bluefield everything quiet this morning and a small force working at Pocahontas without the slightest annoyance from anywhere. A meeting will be held near the Virginia line. A. C. Chippey, from the same place, telegraphed the governor that General Holly is perfectly familiar with the situation and will keep him informed as to the facts.

Adopted Resolutions.

Indianapolis, May 12.—Phil H. Sheridan Grand Army of the Republic post, of this city, has adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved, In reference to the unveiling of the Chicago monument in honor of the confederate dead, that will command the heart and thought of a great section of our people to seek to honor and perpetuate the memory of the dead of the sunny south who sleep in graves away from home by erecting a marble shaft above their ashes, we deprecate and from loyal habits condemn any purpose or intention, if such exist, to weave a laurel wreath about the brows of treason in thus honoring the dead by setting forth any defense of the cause for which they died.

Was Instantly Killed.

Huntingdon, Pa., May 10.—Frank Nicely, aged about 20 years, of Lewistown, met with death in a tragic manner near Marleton depot shortly before noon today. He was riding on a west bound freight train and when near the place mentioned his hat blew off. He alighted from the car and picked it up, and while standing on the south track for the purpose of boarding the train again, he was run down by Chicago limited, going east. He was frightfully cut about the head and one leg was mangled. Death relieved him of his suffering within a few minutes.

The body was brought to this place and prepared for burial and forwarded to Lewistown on an afternoon train.

What Colonel Dupont Thinks of It.

Wilmington, Del., May 10.—Colonel Henry A. Dupont was seen to-night at his home, five miles north of this city, and authorized the publication of the following statement: "I was out of the city during the voting at Dover, and was compelled to go away again to-day. I therefore do not know much about the case aside from what I have seen in the newspapers. I consider it entirely a legal question, about which I will consult with my friends and after this consultation I shall take such actions as I may consider will be justified under the circumstances of the case." Further than this he would not commit himself in any way.

Will Not Issue a Warrant.

Topeka, Kan., May 12.—County Attorney Safford announced yesterday that he would not cause a warrant to be issued on the complaint of G. W. Powers, charging Governor Morrill with having obtained money out of the treasury by false pretenses. He says the vouchers which Powers refers to are evidence of what they are given for, for the auditor of the state had full knowledge of the facts when he approved the accounts, and that there was no concealment by the governor and no attempt at deception. Such complaint, he says, states no cause of action and he will not be a party to such a proceeding or permit the state of Kansas or the county of being a party to it.

Carnegie's employes asked an increase and were refused.

THE BATTLE WAS FIERCE.

A Clash of Arms Between Spanish Troops and Cuban Insurgents.

Tampa, Fla., May 10.—Passengers arriving on the plant steamship Mascotte say the condition of things is encouraging to the insurgents in Cuba. It is declared that Camaguay has been invaded by Gomez, and that he, with 3,000 insurgents, besieged Guaimaro on Monday. There were about 2,000 Spaniards in the city, and, the passengers say, after the fighting became disastrous for the besieged, the regiment of Cadiz, numbering about 2,500, arrived, attacking the Cubans in the rear. Gomez quickly recovered from the first onslaught, and while a small force kept up the conflict with the forces of the city, his main body faced the new enemy. Fighting was very fierce, but it is asserted that the strategy of Gomez and the valor of the insurgents resulted in their victory. The regiment of Cadiz, it is said was routed and cut to pieces by the pursuing Cubans. The city was taken, and is now in possession of the insurgents, The Cuban loss in killed and wounded is placed at 700, while it is asserted that the Spanish loss in killed and wounded was 3,000.

Smallpox and yellow fever are said to be very prevalent. Campos is said to be greatly displeased with the situation and the Cuban insurgent leaders are hopeful of another crisis in the cabinet, which will require Campos to return. Cubans assert that dissatisfaction exists among the troops over the execution of Gallego. Lieutenant Maby, who was brought to Havana for execution, for this reason, it is said, was not executed, but was decorated with medals for his valor.

A Scrap over Bagdes.

Springfield, Mass., May 11.—The first subject for discussion at the convention of the international Young Men's Christian association this morning was "The duty of the association to young men of foreign birth and parentage," At the conclusion of the debate Russell Stirgus, of Boston, presented a resolution extending the greeting of the convention to the workers in France, Spain, Italy and Portugal. Gen. O. O. Howard then spoke upon "Christian work in the army.

[illegible] voted to defer on the work among the college men, railroad men, foreign men, negroes and Indians; to set aside the last Sunday of May for consideration of work in the foreign fields. A resolution, which was adopted after a hot discussion was to the effect that the matter of the association badges be left with the international committee with power to act, and that they be recommended to give as early attention to the matter of selecting a badge as possible, as a substitute for the unofficial badges now in use.

The Ice Cream Was Poisoned.

Beaver Falls, Pa., May 12—Word of a terrible case of poisoning has just reached here from Brady's Run, back of this place. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Mary Reisinger, a widow, had a barn raising, which was attended by about thirty neighbors. In the evening a dance was held and among other refreshments served was five gallons of ice cream, which had been made on the farm. The guests consumed the entire amount and during the night all became seriously ill. Physicians from this place, Rochester and New Brighton were summoned and have been in attendance since. All the sick persons are still alive but it is feared that several will die. An examination of the ice cream showed that it had been poisoned, How the poison got in the cream is unknown, but the supposition is that the vanilla with which it was flavored contained the poison.

Women Masons to Meet.

New York, May 11.—What is sometimes called in this state the Women's Masonic order, but the correct name of which is the Grand Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, will celebrate its twenty-sixth annual convention on June 4, 5 and 6 in this city.

There will be more than 300 delegates at the convention, representing tens of thousands of members. A fight will take place on the election of officers, as it always does. The present grand matron is Mrs Elizabeth Patterson. She will not run again. The two candidates for her place are Mrs. Ray and Miss Sophie Lighthouse, both of Rochester. Outside of the election of officers the principal business will be the revision of the constitution and by laws.

AN account of life and work in the largest powder mills in the world, the du Pont works at Wilmington, Delaware, with the story of historic explosions and with pictures covering all the points of interest, will appear in McClure's Magazine for Jung. Published at No. 30 Lafayette Place, New York City.

SMALL SIZED RIOT.

One Result of a Strike of a Rapid Transit Company's Employes.

Scranton, Pa., May 12.—As a result of the strike of the employes of the Lackawanna Rapid Transit company in Carbondale yesterday, there was exciting scenes between Carbondale and Mayfield, about a mile from the Carbondale city line, this afternoon. The strike arose through the discharge of four men and President Aitken said that the company would never value its rights in the case and would absolutely refuse to take any advice from its employes as to the manner in which it transacts its business. During yesterday afternoon and early this morning enough men were secured to operate six cars, which were running until after noon today. The line extends from Carbondale to Peckville, a distance of about six miles.

The Buffalo Bill Wild West show was pitching its tents one mile from the Carbondale city line this afternoon, and the sympathizers of the strikers used the crowd that collected to watch the putting up of the tents as a mask for their small-sized riot that occurred at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The rioting was done by a motley crowd of men, women and children, their exact number not being known. They heaped ties, old rails and logs upon the street car tracks, spiked the switches so that they could not be operated, and held up the only trolley car crew that got into their clutches. No violence was offered to this crew, but they heard many threats made, and reported to President Aitken upon their return to Carbondale that several of the strikers threatened to blow up their car with dynamite.

President Aitken at once sent a message to Sheriff Clemons, in this city, appealing for help, but the afternoon was too far advanced for anything to be done to-day. So the street car company decided not to risk an encounter with the men to-day and sent its cars into the barn. Sheriff Clemons will take a posse to Carbondale early to-morrow morning. Mr. Aitken says he will run the road without the aid of the old men if it requires all the legal force in the state to do it. He says forty men, sufficient to operate the fifteen cars of the company, have applied to him for work. The men deny having had anything to do with the riot this afternoon.

Succeeded in Clearing the Track.

Harrisburg, May 12.—The wrecking crews from all points along the Middle division and an army of railroad men succeeded to-day in cleaning the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad, which were buried by a great landslide in Jack's Narrows, near Mount Union, yesterday afternoon. Although a freight train consisting of an engine and twenty-one cars was buried by the avalanche of earth and boulders, no person was hurt. The two tracks were cleared at 4 o'clock this afternoon, the first track being opened about 4 this morning. The wrecking crews from Altoona, Spruce Creek, Huntingdon, Mifflin and Harrisburg, with the wrecking and ballast trains from this city and all the section men between Huntingdon and Mifflin, comprising about 800 men, worked twenty-four hours clearing the tracks. Several passenger trains were run to the west by way of Lock Haven and the Bald Eagle Valley. Trains are now running regularly and on time.

Miners May Meet in Convention.

Columbus, O., May 12.—The first step looking to a national convention of miners to consider existing conditions was taken yesterday. A conference was held yesterday afternoon by P. H. Penna, president; P. McBryde, secretary of the national organization, and President M. D. Ratchford, Vice President Henry Shiras and Secretary W C. Pearce, of the Ohio district.

As a result it was decided to submit the question of calling a national convention of the miners with a view to a general strike or settlement, by a vote of the officers of the districts of Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Illinois. President Ratchford is in favor of holding the convention in Pittsburg if it is called, and he believes it will strengthen the striking miners in that district.

Burned in Effigy.

Chattanooga, May 12.—News was received here to-day that people of Union county in the eastern part of the state last night hanged and burned Governor Turney in effigy at the county seat. The was done because the alleged partisan election committee threw out ten of the twelve election districts in that county, three-fourths of the vote of the county being for Evans. There were many women and children present and the affair passed off in a very orderly way.

Mrs. S. E. Burkholder has been appointed fourth-class postmaster at Pine Hill, vice Henry Gumbert, removed.

SHOT TO DEATH.

Forty Bullets Put Into the Body of a Florida Negro.

New York, May 12.—A special from Madison, Fla., says Bradford Hampton, a negro, was shot to death in Taylor county Friday afternoon. The negro was ploughing at the time and the shooting was done by men in ambush, no less than forty Winchester bullets having entered his body. Hampton is the eighth negro who has been lynched or shot in Taylor and Lafayette counties in the last six months, all of them for the same offense.

In Taylor county in November of last year Miss Ella Jones, a young white girl, was assaulted by three negroes as she was returning home from school. She was fearfully maltreated. Posses were organized to hunt down her assailants and in a few days two of them were captured in Lafayette county and lynched.

Before being lynched the two negroes confessed their guilt and said they were members of a band whose purpose was to make white women their victims. The lynchers, it is said, secured the names of the members of the band and since then have been hunting them down.

Shortly after the lynching of the first two negroes three more, who were implicated in the plot, were arrested near here. The posse started with the negroes for Taylor county, but they disappeared en route.

During the present year two others have been lynched in Taylor county and Hampton, who was killed Friday, makes the eighth. It is said that every negro implicated by the confession of the first two lynched has now been killed.

Turning Toward Silver.

Washington, May 11.—Senator Mitchell, of Wisconsin, who has just returned from a visit to his state, says he is compelled to confess there is a greater free silver sentiment there than he supposed. A recent financial publication, presenting arguments in favor of the free coinage of silver, was being read, he said, on all sides, and was having a wonderful influence over the people. Men he had hitherto thought sound are now advocating the doctrine expounded in that book. Still, he believed both parties would do the right thing by the [illegible] coinage question came around, and that his impression was that the national democratic convention would support a free silver plank in its platform, while it was probable the republicans would contert themselves with a statement emphasizing their friendliness for silver and its coinage at a ratio to be established by international agreement. Such a plank would be, Senator Mitchell said, little short of buncombe, for everybody was convinced that there could be no agreement made with the other powers.

Business is Picking Up.

Pittsburg, May 12.—The Times to-morrow will print dispatches from all points in western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio and West Virginia on the business situation. These dispatches show that business is booming at every point heard from and that confidence in the future seems fully restored. Not since the spring of 1893 has such activity been noticed. The revival is not confined to any one line of industry, but all classes of manufacture and trade feel the good effects. Old works that have been idle for two years or more are resuming; plants that have been operating in part time have increased working forces, and numerous mills have advanced the price of labor.

In the vicinity of Pittsburg alone over 10,000 workmen received an advance in wages during the past week.

Says There's No Ground for Charges.

Birmingham, Eng., May 12.—As a result of information received from Detroit and from other quarters in which inquiries were made, the local policy have decided that there is no grounds on which to base a criminal charge against the Rev. J. Bell, the Primitive Methodist clergyman, who it is alleged, was in the measure responsible for the death in a Detroit lying in asylum of Emma Hall, a young English girl with whom he had maintained illicit relations. This decision of the police has excited much public indignation. Bell's whereabout since his flight after confessing to his wife that he was responsible for Miss Hall's condition and her visit to America has not been learned.

The Jury Failed to Agree.

Lincoln, May 12—After being out twenty-nine hours, the jury in the case of the state against ex-State Treasurer Hill, reported a disagreement late last night. This will necessitate a new trial of the case. The case related to the liability of the Treasurer for state funds to the extent of $300,000, which he had deposited in the Capitol National bank, and which was lost by the failure of that ban.

TRAGEDY IN GEORGIA.

It All Came About Because of Opposition to a Marriage.

Covington, Ga., May 13.—A tragedy occured near Newburn in this county yesterday afternoon. In Morgan county just over the line from Newton, lives the family of a rich and well known planter, J. T. Estes. He has a daughter and she had a lover named Will Green. The family of the young lady objected to the marriage of the young people and they determined to take matters in their own hands. Yesterday afternoon Green met Miss Estes by appointment and the two proceeded in a buggy to the residence of Rev. Mr. Harwell, who was to perform the ceremoney. Just as they were getting from the buggy they saw Mr. Estes and his son coming rapidly towards them. Green quickly pulled a revolver and fired at Mr. Estes, the ball entering near the heart, killing the farmer instantly. Green then fired two shots at young Estes without effect. Leaving her father dead in the road and shot to death by her lover, and her brother bending over the inanimate form, Miss Estes went on with her lover to Broughtonville, where they were married. The sheriff of Newton county has received a telegram stating that a reward of $250 has been offered for the capture of Green.

That Inter-State Meet.

The championship contests of the State Inter-Collegiate Athletic Association take place on Beaver Field, State College, Pa., Saturday, May 18th, at 2 p. m. These contests promise to be the most exciting ones ever held in this State. Swarthmore, Lehigh, State, Lafayette, Western University of Pa., Dickinson and Gettysburg are all strong contestants for the state cup, and every event will be a fight from start to finish. The 2-mile bicycle race promises to be especially interesting as three men have entered who ride this race in less than 5½ minutes. State Athletic team is unusually strong this year. Six college records were broken in the handicap meets this spring.

Excursion rates of 2 cents per mile will be given by the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania from Williamsport, Jersey Shore, Lock Haven and intermediate points. Special trains will be run from Bellefonte to the College throughout the day. Arrangements are being made to run excursion trains from Altoona and Tyrone to Bellefonte.

Where Are They At?

Mr. R. McCafferty & Son, the contractors for the Lamb street bridge abutments, are wondering where they are at. The Street Committee, the borough council and the county commissioners are also wondering where they are at, and soon the contractors' bondsmen will be wondering where they are at. And it all comes about because the contract was for the abutments to be up by next Monday, May 20th, and they are barely commenced yet. Borough council held a special session on Monday evening to try and find out where they were, but the mystery only became deeper. And through it all there is little occasion for rejoicing, save by the contractors who failed to get the job and, perhaps, the centennial decorating committee, because they will have one less bridge to decorate.

Blew Off His Head.

A distressing accident occurred at Munson station on Saturday morning last, by which a young man by the name of Harry Herbert lost his life.

About 10.30 o'clock he informed his parents that he was going down to the Moshannon creek to shoot some wild ducks, which he heard were on the stream. So he took his loaded shot gun and started, and had not gone more than three hundred yards when the gun was accidentally discharged, the contents of which blew the head off his body. The unfortunate young man was aged about 32 years.

Under His Engine Four Hours.

Newark, May 12.—Louis Bartholemew, the brakeman injured in last night's accident on the Lehigh Valley railroad near this city, died this morning. It was not until 2.30 o'clock, four hours after the accident occurred, that Engineer Loutzenberger was extricated from beneath his engine. He was weak from his long and painful imprisonment, but his injuries are not fatal. The others injured in the wreck will recover.

Excursion to the College.

For the benefit of all persons desiring to attend the State Inter-collegiate meet at State College Saturday afternoon, the Bellefonte Central Railroad company will run a special train to the College, leaving Bellefonte at 1 o'clock p. m, prompt and returning at the conclusion of the sports. Fare will be one-way rate for the round trip.

Moravian Synod, at Bethlehem, closed down yesterday.

THAT GAME OF BALL.

The State College Defeated by the Cuban Giants.

When the shades of evening had gathered Wednesday, that jolly aggregation of ball players, the Cuban Giants, had another scalp dangling at their belts. They came direct from Sunbury, where they had defeated the local team and were not satisfied until they had taken the State College team into camp by the score of 13 to 4. A number of Bellefonters took advantage of the special train and went to the College to see the College boys strive for fame. Upon the arrival at the College, the party was met by Manager Robert Greer, who did everything for the visitors to make their short stay as pleasant as possible. At 3.15 "play ball" was called out by Mr. Haley and the College boys were at the bat. It was a glorious inning for the Collegians and the way they smashed the ball right and left, was enough to make Mr. Seldon's hair stand on end. It seemed to make no difference where the ball was placed, for the stab team would send it on a sky-scraping journey towards the "Lab," and when the scorer had everything figured out, it was found that the blue and white had tallied four times, with two home runs when men were on bases. It was enough to scare anybody and poor "fatty" Williams trembled with fear and rolled his big eyes about as if looking for help. The Cubans took their trial with the clubs and proceeded to "eat em up" with a vengeance that was appalling, but it did not last long, for "Curly" Nesbit soon retired them but not until they had scored three times. For the next four innings both sides contributed goose eggs to the nest, which fact was caused by the almost perfect work on both sides. In the sixth inning the giants dropped onto Nesbit's drops and proceeded to pound the ball until it was a shapeless mass of leather and yarn, and two more notches were cut in their stick. At this stage of the game the College boys seemed to lose heart entirely, for they played in a listless manner and everybody seemed to be reaching at one place for the ball when it was not there. After the sixth inning, Seldon seemed to be "untouchable" and although the College boys would strike they invariably fanned the atmosphere. In the last three innings the [illegible] a game of ball that would be hard to beat, and as one good play would be made after another, the spectators would show their admiration by their loud applause. This is a fact that the College in general should be complimented upon the fair treatment to the visiting club. How to run bases, was shown by the nimble victors, and they had Nesbit guessing continually by their daring steals. When the visitors were through batting, eight more runs had been added to their list, while the home team seemed to be powerless, and although hey tried time and again, they could not cross the plate with another single run. The absence of Captain Stewart was plainly noticed in the playing of the team, which was slightly changed around. The work of Atherton, Rice, Greenland and Walker for State College and that of Grant, Seldon, Williams and Nelson was the feature of the game which was marked by their many brilliant plays. Following is the score:

THE FATAL GASOLINE.

A Stove Exploded in a Baltimore Sweat Shop Last Night.

Baltimore, May 8.—Six persons were probably fatally burned by the explosion of a gasoline stove and the fire which followed, in a sweat shop at 1424 East Pratt street this evening. The explosion occurred in the third story of the building and the burning fluid flew in all directions, igniting the clothing of the inmates and the garments upon which they were at work.

But for the heroic conduct of a colored teamster—Samuel Morris—who heard the frenzied appeals for help, five of the unfortunates would not have been taken alive from the garret. Morris rushed up stairs and found the door of the sweat shop securely locked. He reached the veranda in front of the second story windows and called to the panic stricken inmates of the third story to jump. One woman anhad leaped from the third story window to the street, her clothing in flames. She was saved from instant death by Tom McGuigan, whose outstretched arms broke her fall. Morris caught two others in his arms, smothered the flames in which they were enveloped and carried them to the sidewalk. He then ran up stairs again, kicked open the door and hauled out the prostrate forms of two men and a woman. The injured persons were quickly removed to a hospital.

The victims were all alive at a late hour to-night but physicians think none of them will recover. The injured are: Sarah Silberman, aged 19, burned on breast and shoulders; Silla Silberman, an older sister, legs burned and internally injured; Sam Silberman, aged 17, burned about upper part of body; Mollie Sisks, aged 22, arms, abdomen burned; Marcus Korn, aged 40, face, chest and legs burned; Abraham Silberman, the father of the first named victims, slightly burned and injured by jumping.

Baptist Women Meet.

Pittsburg, May 8.—The ninth annual convention of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Baptist church convened in the Shady avenue church this morning and was largely attended. After devotional exercises, conducted by Mrs. Rev. Stanton, an address of welcome was tendered the delegates by Mrs. C. C. Myler, and gracefully responded to by the national president Mrs. F. W. Tustin, of Philadelphia. The treasurer's report showed an increase in contributions and an encouraging state of affairs in the business of the association. The report of the general secretary was also read. The nominating committee then presented their report and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. F. W. Tustin; vice president, Mrs. John Love, Mrs. H. L. Wayland, Mrs. W. T. C. [illegible] afternoon session was given over to memorial exercises, and the remainder of the time was occupied in missionary talks. The convention will adjourn to-morrow evening.

A Miraculous Escape.

One of the most miraculous escapes from being crushed and probably killed by a runaway horse happened in front of Mrs. H. Alport's residence Thursday morning at about 11.20. Mrs. George Mock, who was accompanied by her sister, and wheeling her baby in a carriage when a horse came ruuning down South Centre street and turned at Alport's residence and came so close to the ladies that the saddle struck Mrs. Mock, threw her down upon the pavement, but fortunately she was not hurt but terribly frightened. The horse, after almost falling then, started upon its mad course down Presqueisle street toward Chester Hill, and at this time of writing has not been heard from, nor has the owner of the horse been discovered.—Philipsburg Journal.

Mrs. Mock is a sister of Mrs. James D. McKee, of this place, and everybody will be glad to know she escaped serious injury.

Fatal Coal Dust Explosion.

Trinidad, Col., May 10.—An explosion of coal dust this morning in mine No. 10, south, at Sopris, near this place, resulted in the instant death of four men, two of whom were track cleaners and two water men. The names of the killed are: Sylvester Cox, Albert Leininger, John Luby and Blas Labamarish. The first three leave families.

The mine was discovered to be on fire in an adjoining shaft about 3.30 p. m., and it is supposed the flames were communicated to shaft No. 10 through some crevice. Foremen Reynolds and Lloyd had a narrow escape. Reynolds was blown thirty yards by the force of the explosion, but was rescued with no serious injuries. The mine is the property of the Colorado Fuel company, who sustained no great loss.

A Simple Recipe.

Hundreds of lives might have been saved by a knowledge of this simple recipe: A large teaspoonful of home made mustard, mixed in a tumbler of warm water, and swallowed as soon as possible, acts as an emetic, sufficiently powerful to remove all that is lodged in the stomach.

Dear Fishing.

Centre county and all other illegal fishermen take warning, over in Huntingdon county last week, F. Warden Graffius caused the arrest of John Varnes, Blem Pope and Henry Zeilius for fishing with a dip net. Squire Edwards fined Pope and Varnes $100 and $5 respectively.

The Coming Centennial.

There was quite a good attendance at the centennial committees' meeting on Thursday evening and everything is moving along favorably for a grand time on that day.

The Finance committee reported very good prospects of raising a sum of money sufficient to meet the expenses it will be necessary to incur. By this, it must not be understood that there is enough already subscribed, for there is not; but if those people yet to be seen respond as willingly, cheerfully and liberally as those who have already subscribed there will be no trouble about raising the necessary amount. And this every citizen of the town should be public spirited enough to do.

The committee on decorations reported negotiations now pending with a professional decorator of Harrisburg who, it is likely, will come here and decorate the town—literally paint the upper part of it red.

The committee of fireworks, in conjunction with the firemen, have contracted for a $250 display for the two nights. And, in addition, a display of water fire works may be secured for the second night.

The industrial exhibit is still booming and gives promise of being one of the finest parts of the day's routine.

The committee on relics is also getting in its work. This exhibition, which will be one of the leading features, will likely be held in the new store rooms in Temple Court, on Allegheny street.

All in all every department is forging along nicely and there is now no doubt but that Bellefontes' centennial will be an epoch worthy of going in history.

Death of John Swanzy.

In the latter part of 1846 Ellis Askey and John Swanzy left Marion township, Centre county, and located in Stevenson county, Illinois, where they have lived ever since. On April 25th, '95, Mr. Swanzy died in Freeport, Ill., at the age of 76 years. Before leaving Centre county the deceased owned and lived on what is now known as the Holmes farm near Jacksonville. In addition to the farm he lived on, he owned considerable other land in that vicinity near Captain Bennison's farm. He was a man quite well known in Centre county and his friends will be sorry to hear of his demise. He was married to Miss Furst, who lived east of Salona, Clinton county, and this happy union was blessed with two sons and three daughters. Mr, Askey is still living at the advanced age of 79 years.

Leased Rock Mills.

Curtis and Harry Wagner have leased the famous Rock Mills from Col. W. Fred Reynolds and will continue to manufacture the high grade flour for which this mill has become noted. It is worthy to note that this mill was operated for a long time by the grandfather of these two young gentlemen, then by their father and now the sons have possession. Milling seems to have been the main occupation of the Wagners and it seems as though it was born in them to manufacture flour which is the staff of life. The Rock Mills flour stands second to none in the State and the new proprietors are determined to keep up its reputation, Give them a call.

Died at Jersey Shore.

Mrs. Maggie E. Lewis, wife of Robert Lewis, died at the family home at Jersey Shore at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, after an illness of only two or three days. She was aged about 37 years. Deceased was the daughter of the late Henry Woomer who died at his home in Bald Eagle Valley a couple years ago. Her mother died about ten years ago. She was a native of Bald Eagle Valley.

The Valley Forge Appropriation.

It will be most unfortunate if the depleted condition of the State revenue shall compel the Legislature to suspend the good work that is being done at Valley Forge. After more than a century of neglect public interest and attention have been directed to Washington's famous camping ground, and there is great danger that if the work there is intermitted the entiment which has been aroused on the subject will abate and will not be easily revived.

The whole country is interested in this work of rescuing Valley Forge from neglect or common uses. The New York "Evening Post" speaks of the passage of the proposed appropriation for Valley Forge as a test of Pennsylvania patriotism. The Rhode Island Legislature takes notice of what Pennsylvania is doing, and has before it a bill which it will doubtless pass appropriating $5,000 to erect a fitting monument in Valley Forge Park to John Watterman, a Rhode Island Revolutionary officer who died in the Winter encampment in Valley Forge, and whose resting place there is the only marked Revolutionary grave within the Valley Forge lines. This proposed appropriation is based on the assumption that the Valley Forge Park is about to be established at once, a matter that turns on the decision yet to be made by the Pennsylvania Legislature.

A good use has been made of the $25,000 appropriated by the last Legislature for the purchase of the old Washington camping ground. The inner lines of the Winter quarters have been acquired, but the cost of the land with other necessary expenses have exceeded the original appropriation by $10,000. The commission wants to make good this deficit, expend $10,000 in constructing roads throughout the park and purchase additional land extending to the outer lines of the Winter quarters, for all of which a total appropriation of $70,000 is asked. It is not a large sum for what is proposed to be done with it. Valley Forge is a center of attraction for patriotic pilgrims from all over the country. The entire valley where General Washington and his command lay camped and suffered in the cruel winter of 1777-78 will be included in the park if the proposed appropriation is granted. All the redoubts and entrenchments will be restored as nearly as possible, so that visitors can recognize and study them. Driveways and pathways will make the whole park easily accessible. The Rhode Island monument may be the first but will surely not be the last shaft to do honor to the memory of the patriots and martyrs who suffered and endured much in Valley Forge 117 years ago.

What Col. Dunham Thinks.

Col. D. S. Dunham in this week's Horner, gives the following as a program for Bellefonte's centennial, but the Colonel evidently forgets the financial part of it, as he talks as if there were hundreds of thousands to draw on:

If the Bellefonte people intend to have a grand centennial celebration, we would kindly suggest to the committeee in charge that one day should be set apart for the grangers, called granger's day, and all their organizations in the county invited to parcipitate with floats representing their products. Another day should be set apart or a portion of it, called "Educational day." On this day all school children should be mustered in companies with captains, placed in a division and parade through the town after which addresses should be made on the past, present and future of education. There should also be historical floats fitted up representing the past and present history of the place, of its different industries. There should be a parade by divisions representing the ancient militia, the G. A. R., and the National militia. All floats and parades should be of a historical character representing the past and present, then the celebration would not only be a grand success but an instructive one. The volunteer firemen will make their day an interesting one and manage it themselves as they are adepts in their calling.

Extending their Lines.

A contract has been closed between F. H. & C. W. Goodyear, at Potter county and the Wellsville, Coudersport and Pine Grove railroad company, whereby the Goodyears acquire control of that line. It is reported that the price paid for the road, which is about twelve miles in length, was $110,000. This branch will now be made a part of the Buffalo and Susquehanna road from Galeton up Pine creek to Perryville, a distance of twenty five miles. When this is completed the Buffalo and Susquehanna will have 115 miles of track. A number of new Baldwin locomotives have been ordered.

Michael Jay was killed and two Italian laborers seriously injured by a fall of rock out near Uniontown.

THE TREATY.

Exchanged Between China and Japan at Chefoo on Wednesday.

Washington, May 9.—An official dispatch from Tokio, received at the Japanese legation this afternoon, states that the ratifications of the treaty of peace between China and Japan were exchanged at Chefoo on Wednesday. It is understood that no change was made in the text of the treaty as originally concluded but that taking into account the recommendations made by Russia, Germany and France, the Japanese government has agreed to renounce the permanent posession of the Liao Tung peninsula, on condition, however, that the arrangements regarding the form and the terms of the renunciation shall be reserved for adjustment between itself and the government of China.

This latter stipulation is construed to mean that Japan will not surrender the peninsula unless a suitable indemnity shall have been paid, and that it even be agreed between Japan and China that the posession of Port Arthur itself will be retained for a term of years extending beyond the date when the indemnity shall have been paid in full, thus guaranteeing to Japan not alone the payment of the indemnity itself, but also sufficient time to safeguard herself against anything like a war of reprisal.

The treaty of peace itself provides that Wei Hai Wei shall be held until the first two hundred millions taels and the next annual instalment of the indemnity have been paid, so that with the added guarantee of the possession of Port Arthur, even although only temporary, the Japanese government appears to have taken every possible precaution for the future.

The facts would thus seem to be exactly as reported in United Press dispatches from time to time ever since the peace negotiations were entered upon and effectually dispose of the numberless canards sent out by Reuter's agency and Shanghai correspondents, circulated by the European press.

Judical Appointment Bill.

Patriot: The senate judicial apportionment committee made short work of the house judicial bill Wednesday afternoon. The house measure was rejected and the senate bill put in its place. Chairman Walton said they concluded this was the easiest way to focus the objections. The apportionment problem will in the end be submitted to a conference committee with power to act. The senate bill retains the Elk, Cameron and Clinton district, which the house wiped out. It is democratic. The bone of contention before the senate committee was on this district. The senate bill gives Westmoreland and Washington counties each an additional law judge and makes separate district of Green county. The other differences between the two bills have been noted often before.

A number of young men of Lagonier and vicinity are anxious to secure the organization of a cavalry company. As the valley has no company it would be a good idea to secure the enlistment and organization of a company.

"Coon Skins" at Last.

The logic of the free silver craze is that the value of money lies in the stamp and not the thing stamped. The 50 cents worth of silver passing itself off as a dollar is bad enough, but the logic of the argument leaves no limit. If the Government can make 50 cents do duty as a dollar why not 25 cents worth of silver, old rags, bark, skins, cabbages, turnips, pumpkins, anything? This idea has impressed some of the free silver crowd, but few of them let it out.

A Kentucky free silver newspaper has a correspondent who is not so sophistic He settles the money question as follows: "A rich man's dollar should not be worth more than a poor man's dollar, the purchasing power of one dollar should be equal to every other dollar. Coon hides, deer hides, mink hides, etc., were once a legal tender when coin money was scarce. Has not the people the right to call for mink and coon hides to receive the Government indorsement again? They certainly will. The time has come when the laboring people can not afford to follow the dictation of old chronic party office-seekers, but look to our own interest."

So, there you are. Down to bottom rock in the free silver argument and coon skins at last. Why not? As well coon skins as a 50-cent piece called a dollar.

Received Their Commissions.

Hugh S. Taylor, Esq., of Bellefonte, who was elected 2nd Lieutenant of Company B at the last election of officers, received his commission from Gov. Hastings on Monday. Where is the man now who said that he wouldn't be commissioned? He has crawled into the hole and drawn the hole after him. There is perfect harmony in the company and Hugh will make a first class officer. First Lieutenant George Jackson also received his commission and now the company is in good trim and is ready to become more thorough in discipline and tactics. The time is drawing near when the company will elect a captain and it is hard to tell who will be the lucky man.

Spring's Advent.

The sweet scented and odorous Arbutus, which has been decorating the lapels of the gay and festive youths for some time is being replaced with the tender and modest violet. The various fruit trees are putting forth their blossoms thus promising an abundance of fruit, and at the same time are putting on their pretty foliage. The fields are looking lovely painted in their pretty costume of green, the bright and brazen daisy with cups as white as snow will soon be here to receive its share of attention. And thus it is in our fleeting and changing world.

Examining Bridges.

On Tuesday the county commissioners board took a trip to Karthaus and Moshannon to examine bridges. It will be necessary to erect a new bridge at Moshannon as that one was taken away by the ice flood last winter. It was taken down the stream about a mile and one-half and is considerably broken. It may be necessary to purchase an entire new structure. The pier of the Karthaus bridge was also somewhat damaged by the flood.

School Appropriations.

A method for distributing the school appropriation has been devised by Representative Seyfert, of Lancaster, a member who has taken an active part in school egislation during this and other sessions, which he believes to be not only simple but just and equitable. Mr. Seyfert's system would also tend toward lengthening the school term in the country districts. The plan is to divide the appropriation. For every million dollars, or fraction thereof, appropriated by the State, give to each school twenty five cents for every day it is open during the year. The division is to be computed upon the official report of the superintendant of public instruction for the previous year.

On $5,500,000 a year, the appropriation for the last two legislative years, this distribution would give each school $1.37½ per day, or 27 50 per month. For a six months term each school would receive $165, and $192.50, $200, $247.50, and $275, for seven, eight, nine and ten month's terms, respectively. Upon this basis Mr. Seyfert estimates Philadelphia would lose about $100,000; Allegheny county about $9,900; Pittsburg about $20,000.

Most of the rural counties would gain. Armstrong would gain $7,967; Beaver, $10,432; Bedford, $14,212; Cambria, $4,785. Allegheny would lose an average of $480 per school, while Armstrong, Beaver and Bedford would gain at the rate of $26-56, $39 48, and $46 95, respectively. Harrisburg would lose about $5,000 a year; Scranton, $12,000 and other cities in proportion.

The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. It can be seen by the cuts the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organs itself instead of the cause of the trouble The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to his efforts.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW.

From our Regular Correspondent.

NEW YORK, May 4, 1895.

During the last half of the past week, Wall Street showed somewhat of a halt in the upward tendency of prices. This was not unnatural. Values had risen very much; operators had taken large lines of stocks; the boom had followed a steady depression and distrust, and therefore suggested caution; there was some decline in foreign purchases; and thus it was no more than might be expected that at least the more cautious operators should think it prudent to do some realizing, especially as their profit were large enough to suggest such a course. For two or three days, therefore, realizing orders became common. The sales however were met with ready buyers; prices yielded comparatively little; and the realizing was thus checked; the net result being really a strengthening of confidence and a renewal of buying. Thursday showed a distinct new upward turn in prices. London, after having done some selling, came into the market again as a buyer, which had its natural effect upon the local "bull" contingent.

Thus, step by step, the market is gaining new elements of confidence, and a broader basis is being laid for both investment and speculative buying. One of the most hopeful features is the reality of the recovery of foreign confidence in our securities. This is apparent not only in the marked recent increase in the English and German demand for our stocks, which after all might be supposed to be only a temporary spurt of speculation; it is still more strikingly shown in the recent foreign taking of our bonds. Within the week, it was announced that a London-American banking house had placed $8,500,000 of Elevated Railroad bonds to replace a similar amount now falling due, and also that $2,000,000 had been borrowed abroad on account of another railroad. Recent other negotiations of railroad mortgages have been concluded amounting in the aggregate to about $7,500,000; which makes a total of $18,000,000 of this class of securities put in the hands of British and Continental investors within a few weeks. This is an unmistakable evidence that foreign investors are coming to better understand conditions in the United States, and that a real reaction has set in from the distrust which the silver derangements and the embarrased condition of the Treasury had excited. In some respects, the estimates of foreign observers may be truer than our own; and this restoration of confidence among European investors suggests a reason why we should think better of ourselves at home.

These foreign takings of our securities convey other inferences of importance. It is perhaps a moderate estimate that, within the last few weeks, more than $20,000,000, possibly $25,000,000 of our stocks and bonds have been transferred to foreign holders. The first effect of this is to relieve the home market of that considerable amount of securities; which has a very direct tendency to strengthen prices, and so for naturally accounts for the late advance. A second effect is to create an important resource for the drawing of foreign exchange. When to these transferences of bonds and shares is added the previous takings of United States bonds by London, it is apparent that the consequent addition made to the creditor side of the international balance sheet must have been large enough to not only prevent further shipments of gold but also to make an influx of the yellow metal by no means improbable. These operations have eased the task of the Loan Syndicate immensely and remove all possible question about its ability to amply protect the Treasury finances.

The firm, steady and sustained step of the financial interests under the recovery that has been in progress for the last two months conveys a large measure of solid assurance. Throughout, there has been no relapse, no timid frights, no pessimistic misgivings. The attitude of all interests has been so much as to suggest a conviction that the country now stands on solid ground, that the depression has not only got past its causes but also beyond its principal effects, and that an exhibition of rational confidence is all that is needed for a common co-operation in the pursuits of business. Some suspicion was excited by the sudden and large rise in certain leading staples of trade, lest it should mean a breaking loose of a pure speculative spirit backed by no conditions in the real state of business. Facts, however, have now proved that the rise was for the most part legitimate and natural. This conclusion is strengthened by evidence that the upward tendency in values is extending to the domestic markets quite generally, and is also taking effect abroad, and by the further circumstances that the rise in wages evinces an increase in the demand for labor. From all these points of view, the indications are clear that we are now fairly on the way towards a real and sustained return to national prosperity. Generally, we start upon the this recovery with sounder conditions than those existing when the panic struck us. Credits have been purged; weak spots have been probed and repaired; economies have been introduced and, taking the country as a whole, it may be claimed that there is no other nation better equipped for the contest of international commercial rivalry.

The growing excitement over the silver agitation does not attract any great interest in Wall Street. The men of finance indeed, generally, take matters of legislation quite cooly, not caring to shape their course, but rather aiming to turn prospects and result to profit as they arise. At present, this question is regarded as of little importance either to speculation of investment; for whatever may be the fierceness of sentiment among the Southern and Western rabble, the men of Wall Street are not prepared to believe that single-handed free-coinage can ever be legalized in the United States.

The weakness in sterling exchange, due to foreign buying of our securities, together with the improved crop outlook caused by gentle rains in the Western wheat and corn belt sections, have been the encouraging features this week. The wider range of securities dealt in is the best evidence of the genuineness of the recent upward movement in the stock market, and the confidence in the future, which it denotes, is now shared by almost everybody. Optimists are increasing and pessimists are decreasing. It is true the stock market has had a pronounced advance, but it must be remembered that it had a tremendous fall and therefore there was ample room for the change for the better that has taken place.

HENRY CLEWS.

Tammany Transplanted.

Tammany methods abroad have already created a sensation. English turfmen are shrieking over the movements of Croker and Dwyer, as those gentlemen are garnering all the money afloat about the race tracks. Added to all that is the announcement that Hon. Bourke Cockran will stand as a candidate for Parliament with an Irish constituency. Having kissed the Blarney Stone early and had his tongue silvered in the Tammany service he is expected to run equal to one of Croker's horses and win in a canter.

New York is in a position to sympathize with the United Kingdom. Tammany cost it a good bit more than Great Britain and Ireland have paid yet but then it must be remembered Tammany is not fairly transplanted yet. By the time Cockran is in Parliament, Croker in the Lord Mayor's chair and Blue-eyed Willie Sheehan goes over and gets into London Town Council, the United Kingdom will be in a position to sympathize with New York if it has any sympathy left over from its own sorrows

Armour's Profit and Loss.

Dr. Salmon, chief of the bureau of animal industry, at Washington, cuts right to the heart of the meat monopoly in his few sarcastic comments on Mr. Armour's tale of woe. He admits the Armour loss on the beef business alone as probable, but mentions the profitable character of his transportation business.

That is the feature of all the capitalistic aggregations in this country. Their operations cover production, manufacture conversion and transportation. When competition is attempted in any one of these branches the business is run to make a loss on that department, the earnings of the non-competitive branches being at the same time increased. When the competition in that line is strangled, the conditions are shifted to strangle some new competitor in another line. The supremacy of monopoly is maintained by the unholy alliance between the middlemen and the carriers, leaving the producer at one end and the consumer at the other to bear the burden.

Mechanics Elect Officers.

Scranton, Pa., May 8.—At this morning's session of the state council of United American Mechanics it was decided to hold the next session in Chambersburg. For the better government of the order the state was divided into three districts.

These officers were elected: State councillor, Howard B. Holstein, Harrisburg; state vice-councillor, John H. Baker, Madisonville; state secretary, Walter Graham, Philadelphia; state council, M. E. Davis, Bradford; state council examiner, J. T. Fleegle, Duncannon; state council protector, J. M. Acheson, Cool Springs; national representative, Dr. A. Walker, West Monterey. The session will probably last until Friday.

Building a Fine House.

Mr. James Wolfenden is erecting on Silver avenue, near Lamar in Nittany Valley, a fine house which will cost in the neighborhood of $3,500.

The house in the main is 33x54 feet and will have an addition for a conservatory. There are bay windows on all sides of the house, in fact one-third of the area of the building will be of glass, and during the day the sun shines in every room in the house. The hallways on both floors are lighted through cathedral glass. The building is of modern design, will be heated by steam, and water will be piped to all the rooms. The residence will be one of the finest in Nittany Valley.

Scarlet Fever.

In many sections of the valley this spring, scarlet fever has broken out, and many have been down with the dreaded disease. Spring Mills and Penn Hall have had a number of cases, while Centre Hall, with its usual healthy climate, has been afflicted somewhat too, and there have been several cases. No deaths fortunately resulted, and the disease has about abated, owing to the admirable manner in which it was treated by the afflicted parties.

Attempting to board a freight train at Pittstown, John Kelley, aged 25 years, was fatally injured.

HANGED HIMSELF.

Well-Known Cigar Maker Commits Suicide.

C. Y. Stearner, residing in a portion of the dwelling, Jay and Bald Eagle streets, committed suicide Tuesday night. Mr. Stearner at various times in the past has shown symptoms of melancholia, the effects of which ailment were more marked at certain periods.

After going home and sitting with his wife a short time, Mrs. Stearner suggested that they retire. He replied that he did not intend going to bed, but would sit on the chair instead. In a few minutes he went into the yard. During his absence a neighbor dropped in to see Mrs. Stearner, and Mr. Stearner not coming back his wife went out and saw him in the woodshed. She hastily ran back, informed her caller that something was wrong with her husband. John E. Blesh was summoned who, when he entered the woodshed with his lighted lantern, saw Mr. Stearner in a half kneeling position, suspended from the beam overhead with a short piece of sash cord. Hasily cutting the rope, Mr. Blesh laid the limp figure on the ground. Mr. Stearner gave no signs of life after being cut down, Shortly after his body was carried into the house. The deceased was 55 years old and is survived by his wife. The funeral will take place from the residence Friday afternoon.—L. H. Democrat.

A Liquor Merchant in Trouble.

Pittsburg, May 8.—William Traut, a prominent wholesale liquor dealer and importer of Allegheny City, is said to be financially embarrassed to the extent of $250,000. Executions aggregating $30,000 have been issued against him by F. R. Jackson and others, of Pittsburg. The other liabilities are represented by the claims of distillers in different parts of the country. It is alleged that Traut ha hypothecated liquor certificates, which were advanced to him on time by the distillers to the extent of $170,000. Traut was supposed to be worth at least a half a million dollars. He is treasurer of Pittsburg Lodge, No. 1, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, but the lodge is amply secured by bond. Traut last week asked the lodge for leave of absence, stating that he intended to take a three months' trip to Europe. His house has been closed, the furniture removed and the family gone. Traut, however, is believed to be in Pittsburg, having been seen here last Monday.

He Boozed.

"Sing a song of penitence, a fellow full of rye; four and twenty serpents dancing before his eye; when his eye was opened he shouted for his life; wasn't he a pretty chump to go before his wife? His hat was in the parlor underneath a chair; his boots were in the hallway, his coat was the chair; his trousers in the kitchen, his collar on the shelf; but he hadn't any notion where he was himself; when the morn was breaking, some one heard him call; his head was in the ice box and that was the best of all.

Hick's Predictions.

Rev. Hicks, who has gained considerable standing as a weather prophet, says the weather for May will be favorable for agricultural pursuits, and that June vill be the most stormy month of the summer with heavy rainfalls. He says the remaining months of the summer will be warm and dry.

PAINT cracks.—It often costs more to prepare a house for repainting that has been painted in the first place with cheap ready-mixed paints, than it would to have painted it twice with strictly pure white lead, ground in pure linseed oil.

Strictly Pure White Lead

forms a permanent base for repainting and never has to be burned or scraped off on account of scaling or cracking. It is always smooth and clean. To be sure of getting strictly pure white lead, purchase any of the following brands:

"Armstrong & McKelvy,"
"Beymer-Bauman,"
"Davis-Chambers,"
"Fahnestock."

FOR COLORS.—National Lead Co.'s Pure White Lead Tinting Colors, a one-pound can to a 25-pound keg of Lead and mix your own paints. Saves time and annoyance in matching shades, and insures the best paint that it is possible to put on wood.

Send us a postal card and get our book on paints and color-card, free; it will probably save you a good many dollars.

THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out, and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.

SHAPE & SIZE OF A NORMAL PASTILLE

These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, April 13, 1895.

From our Regular Correspondent.)

Mr. Cleveland will be compelled by the Senate to make a full explanation of the somewhat erratic course the administration took in the Nicaraguan business. This is not a guess, but a positive statement of a fact obtained from trustworthy sources. It has been known from the first that the Republican senators woul demand this information, but now a sufficient number of democratic Senators have pledged their co-operation to make it certain that a resolution calling for all the documents will be put through the Senate with a rush. And that isn't all. It is on the programme for the Senate to reaffirm the Monroe doctrine as the people, not the lawyers of the Cleveland Gresham stripe, have always understood it—European hands off American governments; and there is little doubt that the Republican house will promptly adopt the same. Whether the administration will be allowed to go with the tacit rebuke carried by a Congressional reaffirmation of the Monroe doctrine will depend upon the nature of the explanation it sends with the Nicaraguan correspondence.

That gallant old tar, Admiral Meade after forty years of service in the navy of which any man might be proud, has been so nagged by the present administration that he has asked to be retired from active service; and, smarting under the petty insults which have been heaped upon him, he so far forgot himself as to publicly express his opinion of the administration, and that opinion was far from complimentary. This has greatly exasperated Mr. Cleveland, and Secretary Herbert, who has demanded an explanation or denial from Admiral Meade, holding out the threat of a court martial for violation of naval regulations if the Admiral declines. Admiral Meade was unquestionably wrong in expressing his opinion, but he was very human. Brave men seldom stand dogging silently, whatever the consequences of resentment may be.

The conclusion of the long wrangle over the Senatorship in Delaware has attracted considerable attention in Washington, because of its possible bearing on the question of whether the Senate shall or shall not be reorganized when Congress meets. The general impression is that the democratic acting Governor of Delaware was wrong in claiming the right to exercise at one and the same time the functions of Senator and Governor, and that his vote in the last ballot for Senator was illegal. Accepting that view of the case Col. Dupont will be admitted to the Senate as successor to Mr. Higgins. Senator Sherman said on the subject: "Mr. Dupont will, in my judgment, be seated—assuming that Gov. Watson, when he cast his vote as Senator, was the then Governor of Delaware." In other words, Mr. Sherman doesn't see how one man can be a State Senator and at the same time Governor of a State. Do you?

Although Mr. Cleveland makes great claims as to his division to civil service reform, the Civil Service Reform Association, of Washington, at its annual meeting which was addressed by Comptroller of Currency Eckles, unanimously adopted a report made by its secretary which contained statements calculated to raise doubts as to the sincerity of Mr. Cleveland's claims in that direction. This may be particularly true of that portion of the report dealing with recorder of Deeds Taylor, whose violations of the civil service law were so notorious that the Civil Service Commission recommended, in a report made to the President that he be dismissed from office. The report, which was unanimously adopted, says: "At the direction of the executive committee of the association I inquired into charges against Taylor and learned that most of them, if not all, were well founded, and as I reported to the committee. A committee of the association, in an interview with the President towards the close of the winter, urged immediate consideration of the report and recommendations of the Civil Service Commission, which were made to him last August. So far as is known, however, the case has not yet been disposed of. It is much to be regretted that in this and other cases where charges of violations of the civil service law have been made by the officials who administer the law, there has not followed an immediate consideration of them by the Executive authority, and where sustained, that swift punishment has not been meted out to the offenders."

The Supreme Court has reached a decision on the income tax cases, but this time there was no leak and the decision will not be made public until next week. The impression was general up to the time the decision was reached that Justice Jackson would vote against the Constitutionality of the tax, but several things, unimportant in themselves, have occurred which have caused a reversal of opinion, and a majority now appear to believe that he voted the other way. A little patience and we shall know all about it.

Unnecessary Trouble.

A New York lawyer is proposing to undertake the somewhat ambitions task of having the constitution of that State declared illegal. Being counsel for some contractors who do not wish to pay more than $5,000 damages for the loss of a life, for which they are liable, he proposed to demonstrate that the constitutional provision forbidding the limitation of damages is illegal, because the constitutional convention was not properly elected, or its proceedings properly proved.

It is to be seen from this heavy effort to get over a constitution that is so inconvenient as to make it cost more than $5,000 to kill people, that they take a good deal more trouble over in New York than in Pennsylvania. Here we use simpler and straightforward processes. A high official having committed himself to the declaration that it is unconstitutional to prohibit the consolidation of parallel and competing lines of transportation, it is evident that it is sufficient to assert that the constitution is unconstitutional. In the Legislature both by the bills that are passed and those that are not passed, it is shown that the constitution does not amount to much. While by the great corporations, it is notoriously deemed unnecessary to obey the constitution even when backed by a mandate of the courts.

When the New Yorkers have had as much experince as Pennsylvanians in that line, they will not go to all this trouble to get around inconvenient constitutional restraints. It is much easier to go right ahead and ignore them.

The Cuban Revolution.

A few short weeks ago the Spanish authorities said there was no revolution in Cuba, only a riot that would soon be quelled. General Campos has since taken the field with a large army and has just cabled for 20,000 more soldiers. Independent advices are that Cuban hospitals are full of wounded Spanish soldiers and that General Gomez of the Insurgent forces has just won a great victory after great loss of life to the Spanish.

The riot has assumed the proportions of a revolution. While the Spanish authorities continue to herald their victories over bands of insurgents and suppress news of their defeats the whole world knows Spain has very serious business on hand in trying to suppress the Cuban rebellion.

Latest advices from the island encourage the general American hope that Cuba will be able to establish and maintain a government that the United States may recognize without violating the non-interference declaration of the Monroe doctrine. A few such victories as that of General Gomez will encourage the people of Cuba to join with the revolutionary forces. If all the people join in the movement independence may be secured. The people fighting invaders upon their own soil will have a physical advantage as well as the sympathy of other republics.

Where the Second Brigade Will Camp.

After returning to Pittsburg Tuesday evening from a trip to Conneaut lake General Wiley and the various commandants of organizations in the Second brigade, National Guards of Pennsylvania, decided to locate the brigade camp this year at Glencairn, about twenty-seven miles from Pittsburg, on the line of the Allegheny Valley railroad. The site selected is well situated and will doubtless be made comfortable and convenient for the brigade troops. The management of the railroad and grounds are obligated to furnish materials and fix up the grounds at their own expense, which will be a great saving to the state. The offer is the most liberal one ever made as an inducement to locate a camp anywhere within the limits of the brigade, and on account of a large part of the brigade troops being in and close to Pittsburg the saving to the state in transportation will be quite an item.

Judging from the adjectives used by President Cleveland in denying a pardon to a colored editor in Washington who libeled C. H. J. Taylor, the colored recorder of deeds in that city, he has been provoked by the aspersions concerning himself in the public press, and would show no mercy upon such libelers if he had them in his power. He says the newspaper was used as a "dirty weapon to satisfy personal range and revenge. This crime is a most detestable one. It has become so common and is so seldom punished that I cannot reconcile executive clemency in the case presented with the duty I owe to decent journalism, the peace of society and the protection of those constantly subjected to libellous attacks."

An Improper Decision.

Judge Biddle, of Cumberland county, has decided marriage license records not public property. His decision is in direct contravention of that of Judge Bland, of Berks county, and of the custom of other counties of the State. While it may be admitted the law does not specifically grant the public the right to inspect the records, nor the newspapers the right to publish the lists, yet the contention is proper that public policy gives such right.

In his opinion the learned Judge makes two important admissions that tend to contravert his own conclusion. One of these is that the marriage license law was designed to prevent fraud and the other had the records must be opened to persons with an individual interest in any particular case. The second is admitted to be necessary at times to secure the object of the law as stated by the first admission and on the same principal publication of the list will best subserve that object.

The greatest foe to fraud in the world is publicity and publicity approaches most nearly to perfection in the columns of a newspaper of general circulation. Consequently the object of the marriage license law as interpreted by Judge Biddle, even, is best attained by publication of the lists. The fact that access to the records may not be denied to interested parties implies the right to have access to them by the attorneys of the general public, the reporters. The decision of the Cumberland Judge is not in accord with custom, with public policy, or with popular desire. The case should be carried up with the assurance that the Supreme Court cannot ignore the valuable adjunct of newspaper publicity to the avowed purposes of the marriage license law.

The Great Walter L. Main.

What Ward McAllister was to New York and the Four Hundred, Walter L. Main is to the circus profession. He is at all times the acknowledged leader and sets the "pace," as it were, for all other circus managers. Always on the watch for novelties and endeavoring to outdo his previous efforts he has succeeded in establishing a prestige with the amusement loving masses, which he could ill afford to sacrifice. It is an acknowledged fact that the Walter L. Main Shows are the representative big shows of the world. Possessing, as they do, all those elements and characteristics that go to make up a first-class tented amusement, with abundant means to further and promote any and all desires, and a life-long experience in the active circus business, Mr. Main has amassed an amusement institution which is beyond the conception of the average showman. It is unquestionably and undisputably the epitome of excellence. It requires four trains of specially constructed railroad cars to transport this massive institution from town to town. Four thoroughly equipped advertising cars are brought into service to herald the coming of these great shows, and fully one thousand people employed. Manager Main has this season augmented, beyond conception by the public mind, the world's greatest and best shows, comprising novelties innumerable fetched from the most secluded sections of the globe. Aided by the master minds of the most remote period and the present era, and, profiting by the others, this showman of the modern school has absolutely secured every desirable feature of the circus world. It is well worth the time and attention of any one to see the arrival of the scores of extra long cars, to watch the army of workingmen unload the more than one hundred wagons, huge vans, cages, dens and magnificent tableau cars. There will be five bands of music in the daily parade besides steam calliopes, huge mechanical organs, continental drum corps and bagpipers from the highlands of Scotland. This massive amusement enterprise will be seen in Bellefonte May 28.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

HE DECEIVED THE PEOPLE.

And is in the Penitentiary for a Year.

[From The Lowell Morning Citizen.]

At Atlantic, Iowa, on May 7, C. M. Ailor, alias "Crip." Ailor, was convicted of deceiving the people by selling a worthless compound, which he represented to be Hood's Sarsaparilla, and was sentenced by Judge Macy to one year at hard labor in the Iowa State penitentiary. Ailor's methods were those of a traveling fakir. He has been traveling through Missourri, Nebraska and Iowa, making stands of a day or more in each town, and representing himself as an agent under salary from C. I. Hood & Co., and selling his concoction at one dollar or fifty cents per bottle, giving with each sale various other worthless articles. Citizens of Griswold, Iowa, became suspicious and ascertaining from a druggist that Ailor's compound was not Hood's Sarsaparilla, but merely colored water, had him arrested. Three indictments were found against him, the jury convicted him after only thirty minutes deliberation, and he was sentenced as above. This incident suggests the wisdom of purchasing medicines only of reputable dealers whom you know. Hood's Sarsaparilla is never sold by pedlers, and such offering it should at once be reported to the authorities, or to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

A Possible Mistake.

The report that the miners propose to extend the strike by stopping work at the mines which are paying the rate demanded indicates the tendency to a measure that will be no less injurious to the miners than to the public.

By taking that course the miners' organization will destroy the inducement to pay the district rate, and place the operators who are willing to pay it on the same basis as those who refuse it. The fact that this sweeping measure made a temporary success in the national strike last year is fully balanced by the transitory nature of the settlement which terminated that strike.

The way for the miners to succeed is to let the operators who are willing to pay the district wages get all the business and profits that naturally accrue from that course. It will be wiser to increase the inducement to pay the union wages than to destroy it.

'A Friend in Need is a Friend Indeed.'

A friend advised me to try Ely's Cream Balm and after using it six weeks I believe myself cured of catarrh. It is a most valuable remedy.—Joseph Stewart, 624 Grand Avenue, Brookly, N. Y.

My son was afflicted with catarrh, I induced him to try Ely's Cream Balm and the disagreeable catarrhal smell all left him. He appears as well as any one.—J. C. Olmstead, Arcola. Ill.

Price of Cream Balm is fifty cents.

"Nothing Venture, Nothing Have."

Rev. John Reid, Jr., of Great Falls, Mon., recommended Ely'Cream Balm to me. I can emphasize his statement, "It is a positive cure for catarrh if used as directed."—Rev. Francis W. Poole, Pastor Central Press. Church, Helena, Mon.

It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and is worth its weight in gold. I can use Ely's Cream Balm with safety and it does all that is claimed for it.—B.W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

DR. AND EDITOR MORSE.

Find Great Curative Qualities in a Simple Remedy.

The fact of the Editor of the Leader being a physician of the old school, encourages some people to ask why we kick quacks and quackery. We dobate charlatans the worst way; that's a fact. But—every proprietary medicine i n't a quack medicine. In some of them we believe as devoutly as we do in calomel and quinine. There, for example, is Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. It has our faith. We know its value. In the laboratory it has fully approved itself as containing just those ingredients which every physician knows the materia medica to indicate for the disorders for which the remedy is prescribed. In clinical experience its further proof has not been wanting, as we have reason to know, We have no hesitancy in saying that we would prescribe the remedy in any case where it is really indicated.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has no rival as a blood builder and nerve food. It has met with unparallelled success in the treatment of all diseases of the skin, liver, kidneys and the blood. It restores the disordered liver to a healthy condition, and effectually cures the worst cases of habitual constipation. It has cured cases of Bright's disease, erysipelas, rheumatism, dyspepsia, gravel, diabetes, bladder and urinary troubles, where all else has failed.

It is a certain cure for all the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to females, and affords great protection from attacks that originate in change of life. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is for sale by all dealers in medicine at one dollar a bottle or six bottle for five dollars; which brings a treatment within the reach of all.

$100 Reward $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials.

State Roads in Massachusetts.

TO THE EDITOR:

For the past three years the press of the United States has so thoroughly discussed the different advantages of good roads, and universally endorsed this reform, that all classes of our citizens appreciate the necessity of, and are anxious for, the immediate adoption of such laws as will hasten the construction of State highways.

Massachusettes has from the outset taken the lead in this matter, and the spirit of her Legislature has been shown by making the Highway Commission a permanent one, and by appropriating $300,000 to be expended, under the immediate supervision of the Commission, in constructing new and rebuilding old roads.

As a natural result of the popular agitation and the monster petition, which I had the honor to present to Congress in 1893, the United States recognized the necessity of a move in this direction, and under the "Agricultural Bill" made a special appropriation of $10,000 to meet the expense of a careful investigation into the condition of roads throughout the country, and for the publication of such information as would assist the people in bettering their highways. The Department of Agriculture has issued a number of bulletins, and it is gratifying to learn that more than a score of States have already passed new road laws, while nearly all the others are planning for the adoption of measures for the promotion of this reform:

Experience has shown that the course pursued by Massachusetts is the one which commends itself most strongly, both to the people at large and to their legal representatives, the various State Legislatures and it is natural to suppose that if all were familiar with the work here the knowledge would be utilized to bring about similar legislation wherever the method of procedure is still unsettled. For this reason I would call your attention and urge upon you the advisibility of enlightening your readers on the good work we have already accomplished.

Starting in June, 1892, a Temporary Commission was appointed to examine into the condition of the roads, and to draft a bill providing for the improvement of the highways of the Commonwealth. The law suggested by the Commission was, with some changes, passed in June, 1893, but, before any petitions for construction of State highways were submitted to the General Court, an act was introduced and passed June 20, 1894, increasing the power of the Commission, and permitting the Selectmen of any town, or the Mayor and Aldermen of any city, as well as County Commissioners, to petition the Highway Commission for roads as State highways. In place of submitting to the legislature a separate bill for the construction of each road, it was voted that the appropriation be used by the Highway Commission, without further legislation, in building State highways.

The $300,000 has been pretty evenly divided among fourteen counties. Before deciding which of the many petitions should be granted an official visit was made to each locality, and full information as to the value of the proposed improvement collected. While this method has distributed the work in small sections of the roads, thus increasing the expense per mile, the advantage to the people at large will be greater, for the reason that each portion of the State highway constructed is intended to be an object lesson to those living near by. County Commissioners and other officials will watch the work as it progresses, and follow out the same in building county and other roads which are not intended for State highways.

The Commissioners are empowered to build, section by section, in other words will connect the great centerstate commission with through roads Under date of January both local and inchusetts Highway Commission will be benefitted. dered a report which covers the Massathe past year, and this publication may be consulted by those who are considering legislation.

The provisions of our law will permit contracts for the construction to be let to municipalities or to private corporations, but the former arrangement is preferred, as it is more effectual in teaching the people the art of road building, and protects the State against cheapening the work by the importation of foreign laborers, an element which is apt to be objectionable.

A resident engineer is appointed by the Commission, and it is his duty to be in attendance, and keep a correct account of all items to be paid for by the State.

Wherever the traffic was of sufficient proportions to warrant it the roads have been broadened. The advantage to owners derived from the construction of the way is, as a rule, so much greater than the injury to them by widening the road that, in a large majority of cases, the town officials have been able to procure releases without any cost.

Thirty-eight sections have been contracted for, and only eight of them to have a width of eighteen feet of hardened surface, all others being fifteen feet wide. As the primary object is to get length of way, the Commissioners are considering the advisability of building single-track roads in the thinly-settled district. These would not be over nine feet wide, with here and there portions of double width as convenient passing points for carriages. A mile and a half of such roads can be built for less than the cost of a mile of fifteen feet width, and the advantage in getting produce to market is not lessened, provided such construction is confined to localities where the average traffic is from six to eight vehicles an hour.

There is need of legislation to regulate the care of, and responsibility for, sidewalks on State highways. These being of purely local advantage should be under the supervision of the town, the wheelways alone being constructed and kept in order by the State.

Progresses has been made in the laboratory work on the road building stones of the State. Experiments of this kind are carried on at Harvard University in the Lawrence Scientific School, whose dean, Prof. N. S. Shalers is a member of the Highway Commission. The chief aim of these inquiries has been to determine the qualities which constitute fitness for road making. This will be of value to the Commission in enabling them to utilize the road material near at hand, and thus lessen the coast of construction. As this phase of the work progresses maps are made showing the location of all deposits suitable for road building.

A number of towns have already appropriated money to build their streets in the same careful manner as those constructed by the State, and others have purchased road machinery with the intention of extending the work on roads other than State highways.

Careful consideration has been given to the plan of planting shade trees along the highways. With this end in view, experts have been consulted concerning the best varieties for the purpose, and the wayside trees have been examined, so as to determine the species well adapted to the climate and soil of Massachusetts.

As the estimated expense of procuring and planting these trees is not less than one-half a million dollars, the Commission has rightly made this question secondary to road building, but in the meantime they are collecting such data as will enable them to work with profit on the adornment of the roads after the construction is well in hand. The American and English elms have the advantage of fairly rapid growth, with shade high above ground, and the leaves falling from them give but little obstruction to the gutters. They have the disadvantage of being subject to the attacks of insects, so that the cost of protecting them from these pests would be considerable. Maples grow well and are beautiful, though they often shade the road too much. It is the custom in parts of Europe to plant the roadsides with trees which yield profitable crops. In France and Germany, for example, cherry trees abound. In these countries the yield of the wayside trees belongs to the neighboring land owners, but in some cases to the community, and their product is well guarded by law. There will be more or less experimenting on the part of the Commission before they decide upon the species to be planted. The law provides for the beginning of this work in the Spring of 1895, and from that time it will be carried on slowly, so as to give us the benefit of experience.

Every State should make a beginning on road improvement. In thinly-settled regions of the country, where the people do not feel able to undertake much, they can do no better than to start the reform by constructing sections of single-track roads. No community can afford to neglect the common roadsides. Our prosperity is too intimately connected with the facilities for communication.

I have spent many thousands of dollars in inaugurating and advancing this reform, and continue to take an active part in it, though for a long time I have not addressed you on the subject.

The interest is now general, and the leaders numerous, consequently there is a demand for road news, more especially for the recent advancements in the line of actual experience.

Here is what we have done in the Old Bay State. Will you not publish it, or a portion of it, for the benefit of your readers, many of whom, without doubt, are connected with, or interested in, If you ment of the cause?

Have Accepted Calls.

Rev. D. J. Mitterling, a native of Potter township, late pastor of the Lagrange Ind., Presbyterian church, has moved to Coleman, Mich., where he accepted a call from the First Presbyterian church.

Rev. Hoshour, of the Bellefonte Lutheran charge, we are informed has accepted a call from another charge.

The Presbyterian congregation of Centre Hall, we are told will extend a call to a theological student as a supply for a few months.

Nearing an End.

New York, May 8.—A railroad official said to-day: The break in the ranks of the miners along the line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad in Pennsylvania is an indication that the labor troubles in the bituminous coal trade are nearing an end, and that the Pittsburg district will establish sixty cents as its rate and the Ohio district fifty-one cents as its rate, making a difference of nine cents between the two districts, this difference having existed for a number of years.

No Experiment at All.

Mr. Watterson and Mr. Crisp have between them contributed to the discussion of the silver question two sayings that are noticeable for their faint expression of the truth. Mr. Crisp has said in an interview that, if an international conference should settle the question before this country takes action, that would be the best method, "and with less of the element of experiment in it." This leads to the rejoinder by Mr. Watterson that free coinage by the United States alone is admitted by one of its leading advocates to be something of an experiment.

It is a mistake to say that there is any thing of an experiment about it. It is a certainty, demonstrated not only by past history, but by the present value of the silver dollar coined by governments that are on a silver basis. There is no doubt that free coinage of silver by the United States alone would be a depreciation of the standard. It is for exactly that reason that it is urged by a majority of its supporters. They think that a scaling down of the standard, so as to produce a fictitious rise of values, would be a popular measure.

Colonel Watterson states the case truly in saying that it is an experiment that has always failed. But there should be no talk of any experiment in connection with the subject. International coinage on the present ratio would be an experiment, but free coinage by the United States alone means nothing more nor less than silver monometallism and a scaling down of the standard.

Dress Reform With a String.

The women of Grand Rapids, Mich., have been considering dress reform, and have adopted a resolution that sounds radical, but, when carefully analyzed, retains a large liberty of action in the direction of conservatism. They held a fully attended meeting the other night, and after solemnly debating the rather baggy but otherwise becoming bicycle bloomers heroically resolved "That in all cases where in our best judgment, the regulation skirt is unhealthful, impractical or inconvenient, we will have the moral courage to adopt such costume as will eliminate these objections."

This sounds indisputable. If anything is unhealthful, impractical or inconvenient it ought to be amended. But experience with the results of feminine logic, on such things as corsets and torturing, as well as distracting, shoes, points straight to the conclusion that what ever stern custom demands the women will discover to be healthful, practical and convenient. The resolution really means that if the women decide that it is best to wear bloomers they pledge themselves to do what they decide.

The practical result, therefore, will be that if fashion makes it the correct thing to don the unmentionables for bicycling, tennis and other outings the women will heroically don that costume. If fashion commands them to return to the custom of using long skirts for sweeping sidewalks they will jump to the conclusion that it was the dress reform they were seeking.

The Cloud Burst.

The Johnstown Tribune says: Tuesday afternoon, between 12 and 1 o'clock, the village of Scalp Level was visited by a terrible rainstorm, which caused great damage in that vicinity. The ominous clouds which could be plainly seen from this city suddenly began to pour down torrents of rain, and in a few minutes the village was enveloped in a sheet of water. Gardens were entirely destroyed, in some cases the soil being washed away to the depth of two feet. Board sidewalks and fences were moved from their places and the streets covered with debris of all kinds. Potatoes corn and other spring crops were entirely destroyed by being washed away or covered with soil and gravel. Wheat and rye also suffered considerably, and the loss to farmers will be large.

The rain continued to fall for almost one hour. Very little wind accompanied the cloud burst, or much greater damage would have resulted. The storm was confined to a narrow strip—only about a mile wide—and passed from southwest to northeast. Two miles west of Stoyestown large quanities of hail fell and much damage was done to grain and fruits.

Good Credit Abroad.

Application from London for a part of the issue of Allegheny City bonds is conclusive evidence of the good credit of the community. Though the Northside city has just authorized an issue up to the full limit of legal indebtedness its bonds are regarded in England as a choice investment. The English offer is instructive in several ways.

The suggestion of a renewal of the loan at a lower rate of interest conveys the idea that London has grasped the argument of municipal managers here that cities ought to remain in debt. So the shrewd investors on the other side of the ocean want to cultivate opportunities for permanent investments. It is also evident they appreciate the limitation of the Constitution upon the amount of such debt. The latter consideration enhances the credit of our cities and makes the London bankers willing to cater to the limited prodigality of the municipal financiers. These two ideas ought to bring the reflection that it is wise, prudent and profitable for American cities to reduce their interest bearing debt and pay as they go.

Representatives of the Union and Holland Presbyterian churches, at Pittsburg, agree to favor consolidation.

—Boys, save your pennies for the coming circus.

—Invitations are out for the Mattern family reunion which is to occur at Warriorsmark on the 13th of June next.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ross Parker are rejoicing over the arrival of the first heir in their household. It is a boy and growing quite rapidly.

—There are prospects for an advance in wages at the Valentine iron company's ore mines near here. This will be good news to those workmen.

—Another delightful rain on Wednesday evening. These showers are good for the gardens, but there has not been enough rain for the farmers.

—The next, and probably the last entertainment in the opera house this season, will be Vreeland's minstrels on Thursday evening, May 16th.

—At 7 o'clock Wednesday evening Mr. Ollie C. Campbell and Miss Annie M. Tate were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's parents at Pleasant Gap.

—The prohibition county convention will be held on Tuesday, May 21st, for the purpose of electing delegates to the State convention which will meet in Pittsburg.

—The Second Brigade of the National Guard will this year encamp at Glencairn, on the line of the Allegheny Valley railroad. The encampment will be held August 3rd to 10th.

—There was a special meeting of council on Monday evening, but all efforts of the NEWS reporter to find out what it was for proving futile, we are unable to give particulars.

—The first union meeting of the Lebanon Valley Dental Society and the Susquehanna Dental Association, will be held at the Wyoming Valley hotel, Wilkesbarre, Pa., Wednesday and Thursday, May 22 and 23.

—The Adelphi Club's reception at State College Friday evening proved a most successful as well as enjoyable affair. It was attended by guests from all the surrounding towns, including a good-sized crowd from Bellefonte.

—A cow owned by Jonas From, who lives on the Cameron Burnside farm, east of Bellefonte, recently gave birth to four well-developed calves. Two of the calves were accidentally killed, but the other two are alive and doing well.

—Mr. John Rachau, of near Madisonburg, died on Monday. He cut a thorn out of the palm of his hand and a severe sore followed that resulted in blood poisoning which ultimately caused his death. He was about 70 years of age.

—Charles Shearer, the blacksmith, has started an innovation in horseshoeing in Bellefonte by using alluminum, the new metal, for shoes. A horse shoe of this metal weighs but four ounces, being considerable lighter than a shoe made of iron.

—Mr. Harry Temple has started a first class livery at Snow Shoe and is prepared to furnish single or double rigs with driver when desired. Harry is a very accommodation young man and deserves to be patronized. Call him by phone at Lehigh office.

—Company B is making a regular parade ground of the north ward school yard. It does make a nice place to drill in summer time, but it would be far nicer if the boys had two or three big arc lights suspended in the area, as it is a little dark otherwise.

—Did you hear the explosion Friday evening? It was out at the Valentine furnace and was occasioned by water running into the molten metal. Fortunately no person was injured and no damage was done, but the report was loud enough to scare the wits out of a man.

—The Centre county democrats will hold their primaries on Saturday, June 8th, and the county convention on Tuesday, the 11th. Thus far there are only two aspirants for office in that party, and these the present incumbents, W. F. Smith for prothonotary, and W. J. Singer for district attorney.

—A new question in science is opened up by a fruit grower at Gettysburg who says an apple tree that stands beneath an electric light in his yard develops blossoms and fruit much more rapidly than his other trees. He accounts for it on the ground that the light takes the place of sunlight and the fruit can grow at night as well as in day time.

—Very appropriate memorial services were held by the Centre county Union Veteran Legion in G. A. R., hall on Thursday evening in honor of the late Col. D. S. Keller and Dr. J. F. Woods, of Boalsburg. There was a good attendance of old comrades and others assembled to hear the services. Music was furnished by the male quartette and an appropriate address was delivered by Mr. Robert Johnston, of Altoona.

—Saturday evening was a very disagreeable one but nevertheless, there was a pretty fair sized crowd at Achenbach's ice cream parlor opening.

—Bellefonte crossings and bridges should be swept every morning, instead of flooded with water which makes a very disagreable mud for pedestrians to tramp through.

—Merchants and others are cautioned to be on the lookout for a counterfeit $5 gold piece bearing date of 1890, which so closely resembles the genuine as to defy detection, although they are lighter and thinner.

—Bishop N. S. Rulison, of the Williamsport Diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church, will be in Bellefonte Tuesday, the 21st instant, and will hold confirmation service in St. John's Episcopal church, this place, in the evening.

—Williamsport is putting forth great efforts for its centennial celebration and antiquarian display on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th of July, 1895, and if the same is not a success it will not be because of any lack of proper advertising on the part of the managers.

—R. McCafferty & Son are now hard at work on the abutments for the new bridge over Spring creek, on Lamb street, but they will have to hustle themselves to have the same completed by the 20th instant, the time the superstructure is to be here.

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ceaders are rejoicing over the arrival of a bouncing boy baby, which arrived on Saturday night. Joe has always been enterprising and is determined to be ahead of his competitors in some way or other. Congratulations are now in order.

—Trout fishermen in this and other counties have found the speckled beauties indifferent as to the fly and have mostly been caught by using bait, this spring, which is a singular change of notion—but its nobody's business anyhow, but the trout's.

—The latest acceptances of firemen to be present at the firemen's convention are the Houtzdale fire company and the John E. DuBois company, of DuBois, both of which will bring their steamers and will enter the various contests. They will also bring bands with them.

—At the annual election of the Centre Hall Water Company on Monday evening, the following officers and directors were chosen: President, Fred. Kurtz; Treasurer, J. D. Murray; Sec'y, D. F. Luse. Directors: J. D. Murray, John Spangler, Chas. Arney, D. F. Luse, F. Kurtz, Jr.

—The borough Street committee is becoming alarmed lest the abutments for the new Lamb street bridge will not be up and ready for the iron superstructure when it arrives, which will be early next week. They should insist that the contractor put a large force of workmen on the job.

—The large three-sheet posters for Bellefonte's centennial and firemen's convention have arrived and are being sent out and put up all over the central part of the state. They are beauties in red and blue and they well proclaim the many things in store for everyone who will come here at that time.

—Saturday's rain was succeeded by a cool wave of no mean temperature. A high wind prevailed all of Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night and spring over coats were at a premium. But the high wind was a blessing inasmuch as it kept away the frost and the cool wave thus did no damage to fruit and vegetation. It is considerably warmer to-day.

—Some fifteen years ago Judge Mayer, of Lock Haven, was legislated out of the Clearfield, Centre and Clinton judicial district and became judge of the Clinton, Cameron and Elk district. If the judicial apportionment bill now in the house passes, Judge Mayer's present district will be wiped out, although there is a probability that he may be sent back into the Clearfield-Clinton district again. The whirligig of time brings about peculiar changes.

—How dear to our heart is the old silver dollar, when some kind subscriber presents it to view; the liberty head without necktie or collar and all the strange things that to us seem so new; the wide speading eagle, the arrows below it, the stars and the words with the strange thing they tell, the coin of my fathers, we're glad that we know it, for some time arother 'twill come in right well; the spreadeagledollar, the star spangled dollar, theold silver dollar we all love so well.

—Our contemporary, the New Era, has been for some time attacking the appropriations asked for by the State College at Bellefonte. To be logical and consistent, we suppose in time our neighbor will oppose appropriations to the State Normal schools, including the excellent one at Millersville, which is understood to be self-sustaining. What is sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander. Our contemporary says it costs $6,000 to educate a boy at the State College. Will it now give us the figure for the Normal school cost of graduation?—Lancaster Examiner.

Snow On the Mountain.

On Tuesday a sufficient quantity of snow fell at Snow Shoe, Beaver Mills and other places on the Allegheny mountains to cover the ground white. The temperature in the morning was below freezing point and ice was frozen. This is winter weather in summer time with a vengeance.

Lightning killed Abram Manscoy, at Dallas, Luzerne county.

A CIRCUS COMING.

E understand the Walter L. Main Circus will exhibit in Bellefonte on the 28 of May. The coming of such an exhibition is always an important event. A circus is always a benefit to the merchants. Many people came from long distance to see the show and, incidentally, do a good deal of trading while in town. Railroad companies give excursion rates on such an occasion; and we do not believe it a sound or wise policy for any town to impose an exorbitant license tax. We understand that this circus had so much difficulty in obtaining an eligible lot on which they could erect their tents, that the advance agent doubted whether the show could come to Bellefonte. We had never given it much thought heretofore, but it seems to us that a town or city that fixes a license for a show to exhibit within its corporate limits, at an unreasonable price, stands in its own light. We feel confident that the coming of a circus at this season of the year will be the means of causing hundreds of people to visit Bellefonte from the surrounding country, and the crowd that comes to town to see the circus will leave many hundreds of dollars with our merchants, and carry home lots of merchandise. Always welcome the circus for the sake of the small boy and the sound business principles, of which we have hinted.

The Centennial.

The Committee on Relics met Monday evening but the attendance was not as good as usual. The ladies of the committee are Mrs. G. W. Jackson, Miss Sarah Benner, Mrs. S. T. Shugert, Mrs. R. V. Pugh, Mrs. L. A. Shaffer and Mrs. Thad Hamilton. They will have another meeting on Thursday evening, at 7:30 and request all ladies who are willing to co-operate in Centennial preparations to meet with them in the rooms of the W. C. T. U., in Crider's Exchange. Those who have been appointed on sub-committees will be specially notified, and it is hoped there will be a full attendance. The North Ward school house has been generously granted by the School Board for the exhibition. The time is short—work must be done. All who feel a pride in Bellefonte's honored past should be interested and help.

—Governor Hastings will entertain the association of Johnstown correspondents at Harrisburg on May 30th.

—Be on the lookout for counterfeit ten cent pieces—there are many now in circulation. It requires close scrutiny to detect them. They are of leaden characteristic to the touch, and the lettering lacks the sharpness of the genuine.

—A change will be made in the schedule of the Bellefonte Central railroad on Monday next, May 20th. The train for the College which now leaves at 10.50 a. m., will then leave at 10.30, just 20 minutes earlier. Make a note of this and don't forget it.

—Mr. Isaac Wrye, a 75-year-old farmer of Malfmoon township, died quite suddenly on the 9th instant, and was buried on the 11th. Mr. Wrye had been out and around the day before his death. He was twice married and was the father of twenty-four children.

—Cellars should not only receive a thorough cleaning every spring and fall but care should be taken at all times that decayed vegetables, etc., do not accumulate and thus endanger the health if not the lives of the family. This unsanitary evil is strangely overlooked by housewives who evidently consider their cellars a sort of a dumping ground. These damp, poorly ventilated and littered basements are frequently the source of disease. The wise and truly cleanly housewife will be as proportionately careful of her cellar as her parlor.

Read What Can be Said of the Bellefonte Association.

There are over 5,000 Associations in the world and anyone holding a ticket in the Bellefonte Association will receive courtesies from any one of them. It costs only $2.00 to join this great brotherhood, will you be one of 500 in Bellefonte, to join the Association? You need it; we need you.

***

If you want to find a cool place on Sunday afternoon, come around to the Association building; its the coolest place in town. But don't go away without staying to the Men's meeting. It lasts only one hour; and you will enjoy the hearty singing and brief talks.

***

The Christian man that looks after his own selfish interest in considering the question of joining the Association and taking part in a forward movement to benefit our young men should be a curiosity. Here is an institution with a valuable outfit and a peculiar adaptibility for reaching every class of young men and doing them a vast amount of good and yet a large part of the Christian men of Bellefonte are not associated directly with it. Brother, it is not a question of what will it profit me if I join this organization. This is the wrong way to look at it. It is a question of what benefit can my influence on other young men be if I enroll myself as one of the Association members. It is your duty when the banner of Jesus Christ is unfurled at the head of an organization such as is this, to enlist and fight for Christ. Your financial aid in the matter is only a secondary matter, it is yourself, your service, your time that you owe to other young men. The money will come if these are given.

The most expensive Y. M. C. A. building in the world is at Chicago. It was completed last year. It is thirteen stories high and cost $900,000. The lot on which it stands cost $765,000, making the total cost 1,665,000. The daily attendance in the Chicago building is 1500.

Rev. Wm. G. Puddefoot has figured out that it costs $50,000,000 to run the jails. He remarks: "We pay eight times as much for running our fellowmen down and jailing them as we do in trying to make them better so that they will not need the jail."

A Noon-Day Fire.

A little past eleven o'clock on Saturday an alarm of fire was sounded and the blaze proved to be in the stable belonging to the property of Mr. S. H. Williams, on Reynolds avenue; and, before the fire companies could arrive and get water on the structure, the flames had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the building, and it, with the carriage house adjoining were destroyed. There was no stock in the stable and very little grain and hay. In the carriage house was one sleigh. The loss will not exceed several hundred dollars. The fire was started by a couple small boys playing with matches. If it had been a windy day there might have been a large conflagration, but as it was, and with a large force of men with buckets protecting the surrounding houses, the flames were kept from spreading.

Reduced Rates to Decatur, Ill.

For the accommodation of persons who desire to attend the meeting of the German Baptists (Dunkards), to be held at Decatur, Ill., May 28 to June 8, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, will sell from May 24 to June 1, inclusive, excursion tickets from all points on their system west of and including Baltimore, Lancaster, and Reading, and south of and including Sunbury, to Decatur and return, at a single fare for the round trip. Tickets will be good to return to starting point not later than July 9.

Going to Improve.

It is the intention of the Messrs. Al S. and C. M. Garman, proprietors of the Garman House, to make some changes in that popular hotel. The changes contemplated are putting the parlor up stairs and using that room as an office and sitting room. The bar will be moved into the present office room and the present bar room will be used as a storage room. After these improvements are completed the Garman House will be palatial in its accommodation of the public.

Beech Creek.

William Gunsallus, an employe of P. B. Crider's farm, two miles south of Beech Creek, was stopped at 9 o'clock at night on the public road recently by four highway robbers, who ordered Mr. Gunsallus to put up his hands while they went through his pockets relieving him of all his cash. It was bright moonlight, so that the robbers could be plainly seen. They covered the gentleman with two revolvers and gave him but little time to put up his hands and close his mouth.

A Hint for All.

Don't lick postage stamps, cries a British medical authority. They pass through many hands, from the manufacturer to the office boy. They are torn off, folded and carried about through postoffices in disease stricken localities and sometimes carried in mail bags dirtier than anything. They may give you diptheria, smallpox or scarlet fever. They have on tap any kind of disease that you call for. Therefore, don't lick them. Moisten them with a wet sponge.

Death of Mrs. James S. Kent.

From the Grand Junction, Cal., News, we copy the following:

Died, on Monday, April 29th, 1895, after an illness of many months, Mrs. Amanda M. Kent (nee Askey), the beloved wife of Jas. S. Kent. She was born in Centre county, Penn., March 11th, 1829, where her early years were spent and her education received. In 1848 she was married to Mr. Kent, and in 1849 the newly wedded couple moved to Fort Madison, Iowa; after remaining a year at the latter place they removed to Freeport, Ill., where they lived for five years. After this they returned overland to Pennsylvania living there until nearly the close of the rebellion. During this time Mrs. Kent was an earnest friend of the colored people—an ardent abolitionist—taking and maintaining a decided stand for the right, when copperheads were very numerous in her city; when the ultimate success of the Union army seemed doubtful.

In 1864 Mrs. Kent, with her family moved to West Union, Iowa, where they resided for nineteen years, and in 1883, they migrated to Grand Junction, Colorado, where she resided until her death. There was no better known lady in Mesa county than Mrs. Kent, coming, as she did, to Grand Junction when the city was just founded and having always taken an earnest interest in its growth and welfare. To every place to which Mr. and Mrs. Kent moved they have been pioneers, and much of the toil and hardship of pioneer life has been their lot. Mrs. Kent was always an earnest student and an intense lover of nature Of her religious life it is well to speak, for she was an active, consistent Christain, She was baptised at Milesburg, Penn., when fifteen years of age, and ever remained a Baptist from principle; assisting in establishing a Baptist church at the latter city, at Freeport, Ill., at West Union, Ia., and at Grand Junction, Colo., and in these churches she was a leading singer. During all her long, lingering illness, her mind remained perfectly clear and no word of reproach, no murmur, escaped her lips, but with steadfast reliance on the promises of Jesus Christ, she waited patiently for the summons of her Savior.

She leaves besides a great host of friends to mourn her departure, her husband, J. S. Kent, and four married daughters: Mrs. Fannie McClintock of La Grange, Ill., Mrs. Emma McCune of Grand Junction, Colo., Mrs. Celia Campbell of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Mrs. Esther Mitchell of Grand Junction, Colo.

Second Annual Banquet.

The Crescent Club, of Central City, gave its second annual banquet on Thursday evening, May 9th in its club house. This club is celebrated for its fine—looking young men and they gave one of the finest banquets ever served in Milesburg. The club rooms were handsomely decorated with flags, bunting, cut flowers and potted plants. At half-past nine, the many guests and members having arrived, the affair was opened with some fine musical selections under the leadership of Harry Borst. The table was as handsomely decorated as the rooms. In the center was a large crescent, and the menu was of the choicest delicacies of the season. This club has started a hook and ladder company, and they expect to turn out on Firemen's day in Bellefonte and will contest for the prize of having the largest man.

Killed in a Saw Mill.

A young man named Dorsey Downs, was killed in a saw mill on Pine creek Friday. He was running a slab through the saw when the slab "pinched" and flew up in the air. In descending, the slab struck the feeder board, knocking it down on the saw. A piece of the feeder board was broken off and was thrown by the revolving saw into young Down's face, striking him on top of the nose between the eyes. His skull was fractured, and a hole made in his forehead large enough to expose the brain.

North Bend in the Lead.

An unusually large day's sawing was made Friday at Howard & Perley's mill, North Bend. With one circular, one gang and one band saw, 197,537 feet of hemlock was cut in ten hours. The logs cut averaged six to the 1,000 feet. Of this amount 112,000 feet was 12 inch stock which was cut on the gang. On the lath mill were cut 54,000 four-foot lath, 8,000 three foot lath and 3,000 four foot pickets.

Personal Pencilings.

P. J. Longhry, one of Unionville's most successful farmers, spent Tuesday in Bellefonte.

Clement Dale, Esq., is in Lock Haven to-day attending a convention of young Lutherans.

Mrs. George P. Bible and two children are the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bradley, on Spring street.

Ex-Sheriff Robert Cooke was a visitor in Bellefonte Tuesday. Bob seems to have another office bee buzzing in his bonnet.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warfield returned from their wedding tour on the late train Tuesday night. They will at once go to housekeeping in the house on Linn street vacated this spring by Mrs. Keller.

Mr. James Barnhart departed Tuesday for Punxsutawney to see Mrs. B. who has been spending several weeks in that place on a visit to her parents. Jim got tired keeping bachelor's hall and so went out, intending to bring his wife with him on his return.

Mr. Raymond, of Main's Consolidated Shows, favored this office with a call this afternoon, and we found him a very pleasant and most agreeable gentleman, with whom it is a pleasure to transact business. Mr. Raymond says the show is bigger and better this year than ever.

Miss Annie Harpster, of Missoula, Montanna, arrived in Bellefonte on Wednesday morning. She expects to spend several months at Centre Hall, her former home. She is the youngest daughter of Jacob Harpster, who with his family, moved west several years ago.

Mr. John C. Miller, of Bellefonte, confidential clerk for Col. Fred Reynolds, was in town yesterday and took occasion to drop into THE LEDGER office and crack some of his hoary headed jokes on the editor. We turned a preacher loose on him and he skipped forthwith.—Philipsburg Ledger.

Miss Grace Cassidy, of Canton, Ohio, is visiting at the home of her friend, Mrs. W. W. Bayard, at Centre Hill. Miss Cassidy is a daughter of Mr. R. A. Cassidy, who is well known to the citizens of the valley, and is an accomplished and vivacious young lady.

Change of Schedule.

It has been decided that the new schedule will go into effect on the P. R. R., on Sunday next, May 19. The work of re-arranging the schedule is not yet completed but these changes will be made for sure: The day express will leave Pittsburg at 7.30, instead of 8 o'clock, and pass Tyrone about 11.45, instead of 12,15. The main line express will be put on again and leave Pittsburg at 8 and Tyrone about 12.15. There may be other changes, but these are the most important.

Rev. Hoshour Not Going Away.

In Friday's NEWS appeared a brief item, copied from an exchange, stating that Rev. Ed Everett Hoshour, of the Lutheran Evangelical church of this place, had accepted a call to another charge. Rev.
